

Erica Bray-Parker for Wheaton City Council; Councilman At-Large

It is with great confidence that I recommend Erica Bray-Parker, 22-year resident of Wheaton, to be our next Councilman At-Large. Erica serves as a professional educator and leader in the Glenbard High School district. Her experience as a civics teacher and mentor exemplifies her passion for civic engagement while giving her a youthful perspective. She brings with her innovative ways to continue to move Wheaton forward. She has a master's degree in Political Science, is on the Illinois Education Association Board of Directors, has served on the Student Performance and Achievement Committee in District 87 and has been an active volunteer and community member in Wheaton. Both her professional experience and collaborative skills will make an excellent addition to the current council. Her enthusiasm for the position is evidenced by her hard work in speaking and meeting with many of the key leaders and volunteer boards and groups throughout our city. I have confidence in her ability to make positive contributions to the future of the city of Wheaton on behalf of the diverse range of residents she will represent. Erica Bray-Parker is well suited to serve in this non-partisan position as an open-minded, thoughtful and respectful member of the Wheaton City Council. It is without hesitation that I endorse her candidacy for Councilman At-Large.
